

The Colours of Food Security

Liu Institute Lobby Gallery Public Reception
with TED Speaker Jon Foley

The Colours of Food Security is a series of bold and striking maps that paint a picture of global agriculture today. It pulls decades of scientific research into one exhibit to walk the audience through key issues surrounding the food system in the twenty-first century.

Artists: UBC's Land Use and Global Environment
(LUGE) Laboratory

The exhibit will be introduced by acclaimed environmental scientist and TED Speaker, Dr Jonathan Foley, Executive Director of the California Academy of Sciences. Join us for what promises to be a colourful and fun event accompanied by light refreshments and networking opportunities.

Monday, March 19, 2018

6:00 PM – 8:00 PM

Lobby Gallery – Liu Institute for Global Issues

RSVP: liu.arts.ubc.ca/event/colours-food-security-public-reception-ted-speaker-jon-foley/

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
School of Public Policy and Global Affairs

Institute for Resources,
Environment & Sustainability
University of British Columbia

LIU INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL ISSUES

iSGP
Dare to Be Unique!