

THE CENTRE FOR KOREAN RESEARCH PROUDLY PRESENTS

Democratic Health Communications during Covid-19: Lessons from South Korea and Canada

Dr. Heidi Tworek & Yoojung Lee

Friday, October 2, 5pm - 6pm (PDT)

Zoom link will be sent to registrants

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
School of Public Policy and Global Affairs
Institute of Asian Research

CENTRE FOR
KOREAN RESEARCH

- How to register

Please fill out a form here by September 30

<https://ckr.iar.ubc.ca/friday-october-2-2020/>

The Zoom link will be sent to registrants' emails

---

- Speakers

Dr. Heidi Tworek

Associate Professor of International History and Public Policy

Yoojung Lee

BA International Relations Candidate, International Scholar

Dr. Yves Tiberghien

Professor of Political Science

---

This talk argues that communications form a crucial part of the response to Covid-19. It considers how South Korea and Canada have communicated around Covid-19, what lessons we can learn from both, and what both tell us about the meaning of democratic health communications. The talk is based on a report about health communications in nine democracies on five continents during Covid-19.

Questions? ckr.ck@ubc.ca

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
School of Public Policy and Global Affairs
Institute of Asian Research

CENTRE FOR
KOREAN RESEARCH